

Northern NY Agricultural Development Program
2013 Project Report
Winter-Forage Small Grains to Boost Feed Supply PHOTOS

A nitrogen response trial in a rye field on B.C.S. Farm, Clinton County, 4/19/2013, photo: Champlain Valley Agronomics.

Nitrogen response trial with triticale in Lewis County, photo: Joe Lawrence.

Pete Barney setting-up a nitrogen response trial in a triticale field on Brandy View Farm, St. Lawrence County, 4/23/2013, photo: Cornell Nutrient Management Spear Program.

Heather Robison of Champlain Valley Agronomics harvesting cereal rye forage in a nitrogen response trial at Happy Haven Farm, Clinton County, 5/14/2013, photo: Cornell Nutrient Management Spear Program.

Nitrogen response trial with cereal rye at Happy Haven Farm, Clinton County, 5/14/2013, photo: Cornell Nutrient Management Spear Program.

Shona Ort and Pete Barney taking notes of the triticale in the nitrogen response trial at Brandy View Farm, St. Lawrence County, 5/29/2013, photo: Cornell Nutrient Management Spear Program.

Oats seeded (September 17, 2012) after corn silage at Thunder Lane Dairy in Castorland, NY. Picture taken November 11, 2012, photo: Joe Lawrence.

Cereal rye seeded after corn silage (September 17, 2012) at Thunder Lane Dairy in Castorland, NY. Picture taken November 11, 2012, photo: Joe Lawrence.

Tillage radishes seeded after corn silage (September 17, 2012) at Thunder Lane Dairy in Castorland, NY. Picture taken November 11, 2012; photo: Joe Lawrence.